

Agitprop

Agitprop (agitation-propaganda)
was created by the Soviets as an instrument of protracted political war against the people.
Today we still fight the agents of agitprop.

Leftist Students Assault Anti-Illegal Alien Speakers

Students rushed a stage at Columbia University to prevent Minuteman founder Jim Gilchrist from speaking.

Observers captured the whole thing on videotape. There were neither suspensions nor expulsions of the leftist pro-illegal immigration thugs who drove people with other ideas from the Columbia campus. The leftists are desperate to suppress the truth because they are good little commies who realize that their own bias cannot refute that truth.

Perhaps that's why immigrant advocates at Michigan State University felt safe using similarly thuggish tactics to disrupt a speech by anti-illegal immigration Representative Tom Tancredo. "Protesters pulled fire alarms, spat at the audience and fought with the event's student organizers," the Washington Times reported. "Outside and student protesters punched and spat on Kyle Bristow, chairman of Young Americans for Freedom, which sponsored the event along with the College Republicans. Another student, Mike Wolin, said his camera was destroyed by a demonstrator, who threw it against a wall."

A visitor to an American university campus in 2007 will soon notice that he has stepped back in time. American college students are trapped in a time bubble of the 1960s. The radical communist students of that era are now professors who have brainwashed hundreds of thousands of current US college students into another wave of ignorant and violent leftist revolutionaries who work to make America into a totalitarian neo-Marxist regime. A visitor can even hear the same cacophonous "wocka-chikka wocka-chikka" funk music that was so popular in the ignorant 1960s and 70s. American universities remain the squalid anti-intellectual, politically correct concentration camps of the 1960s.

The current medieval miasma that is the American university is a stupid, sordid mess that is interesting only because it is the spawning ground of violent and sleazy new leftists, positively wallowing in black racism. Political correctness (nullification of freedom of speech) is enforced with violence by communist street thugs honored as "university students." Colleges are quick to punish students for "politically incorrect speech" because freedom of speech is no longer allowed on campus. Why are student thugs who subvert free speech punished so seldom?

In the past, American universities prided themselves as a safe place where the ability to express and debate ideas were as core to a university as its classrooms and library. In the current era, which has lasted since the Vietnam War, American universities are sanctuaries for unrepentant Stalinist thugs who daily throttle any opposition to their communist-racist ideologically rhetoric. The modern American university parades so-called multi-culturalism, affirmative action (for blacks only) and anti-white, racist "diversity" as the new Marxist dialectic. The leftist student thugs are particularly loathsome because, as members of fringe activist groups, their ability to express opinions outside the mainstream depends on the very openness to ideas that they're subverting. If their opponents ever have the guts to respond in kind, the reds will quickly find themselves shouted down and spit on by crowds far larger than their own. Currently, Marxist anarchy reigns. America's colleges tell the world that physical intimidation used against those who oppose illegal immigration will go unpunished.

Since those who take an anti-illegal immigration position on American campuses are intimidated with impunity, how can the public trust the integrity of immigration research that originates from such bastions of bigotry? How can the public trust and federal funding of American universities be continued any longer? Stalinist administrators at American universities do not prevent department chairs and tenure committees from intimidating non-tenured faculty members whose research on immigration doesn't conform to leftist campus ideology. American colleges and universities have already lost all credibility as a forum where the issue of immigration can be researched, taught and discussed.

The bulk of university professors are not honest, rigorous researchers, they are leftist ideologues who dogmatically twist research to reflect their skewed Marxist world view. US universities must lose their place as a repository of immigration-related knowledge and as drivers of public policy. What they have socially engineered is a self-inflicted wound that must be cauterized.

Breaker McCoy

MS Psychology
(also two BS degrees and most of his doctorate)