

Budapest Defense 1944

SS Cavalry Lethality

Copyright © 2007, Breaker McCoy

This book was copyright protected and may not be reproduced in part or whole, or sold, without the express written consent from the author of this book. All Rights Reserved

www.quikmaneuvers.com

Table of Contents: 15 Chapters, 6 Appendixes

Introduction

Chapters

- 1. The Art of Defending Budapest
- 2. Defensive Schwehrpunkts
- 3. Interlocking Defensive Systems
- 4. German Strongpoints
- 5. German Cavalry Logistics
- 6. Combat Evaluation of German Cavalry Units
- 7. German Cavalry Crew-Served Antitank Tactics

8. German Cavalry Individual Tank Hunting Tactics
9. The Attila Defensive Zone
10. Operations on the Hungarian Plain
11. A Stronghold, Northwest of Budapest
12. Camouflaging Secrets for the Pilis Mountains
13. The Pilis Mountains, a Central Position
14. Exploitation by Napoleonic Maneuver
15. Royal Hungarian Gendarmerie and Police:
Budapest

Appendixes

1. German Flak Units in the Antitank Role
2. 88mm Flak Guns vs. 75mm Antitank Guns
3. Underestimated Axis Forces in Budapest
4. Headquarters 9th SS Mountain Corps: Timeline
5. German Antitank Manual Used in Budapest
6. Hungarian Military Archaeology Studying the Defense of Budapest

Bibliography