

Disgraced: Defeat of the Marine Corps in Vietnam

Incompetent Generals of the 3rd Marine Amphibious Force

Copyright © 2003, Breaker McCoy

This book is copyright protected and may not be reproduced in part or whole, or sold, without the express written consent from the author of this book. All Rights Reserved.

www.quikmaneuvers.com

Table of Contents: 19 chapters, 9 appendixes

Introduction

1: US Marines in I Corps

2: The Myth of US Marines Eliteness

3: I Corps Terrain and Centers of Gravity

4: Marine High Command's Strange Psychology

5: Marine Command and Staffs in Vietnam

6: Incompetent Marine Generals in Vietnam

7: Marine General's Danang Fixation

8: Festung Danang

9. NVA Seizure & Retention of I Corps Combat Initiative

10: Marine Support Bases and Units in Vietnam
11: Marine Air Support
12: Marine Reconnaissance Reputation
13: Marine Reconnaissance Support Problems
14: US Army Static Security Units in Vietnam
15: Static Security Units in Modern History
16: Economy of Force Units
17: The Marines Fight in Hue
18: The US Army's 1st Cavalry Division Saved Hue
19: How Hue Should Have Been Liberated
APPENDIX 1: NVA Build-Up, I Corps: 1965-68
APPENDIX 2: The South Vietnamese Pacification Army
APPENDIX 3: Lethality Comparison Vietnam Units
APPENDIX 4: US Army Combat Battalions: 1965-1971
APPENDIX 5: Marine Officer Training Vietnam Era
APPENDIX 6: Marine Recruit Training Vietnam Era
APPENDIX 7: Danang Taors (Map)
APPENDIX 8: Danang (Map)
APPENDIX 9: US Army Battalion Training within Vietnam
BIBLIOGRAPHY