

Forest Battle Tactics

Forest Combat, Eastern Front

Copyright © 2007, Breaker McCoy

This book is copyright protected and may not be reproduced in part or whole without the express written consent from the author of this book. All Rights Reserved.

www.quikmaneuvers.com

Table of Contents: 40 Chapters

Introduction

Chapters

1. Forest Warfare on the Eastern Front
2. Tactical Principles of Forest Combat
3. Combat Arms in Forest Combat
4. Forest Assault Tactics
5. Defensive Combat in Forests

6. Retrograde Movements in Forests
7. Forest Combat in Various Conditions
8. Forest Intelligence and Reconnaissance
9. Troop Movements in Forests
10. Germans Tactics in Wooded Terrain
11. Artillery Employment in Woods
12. Artillery Observation Posts in Wooded Terrain
13. The Light Machine Gun in Forest Fighting
14. Forest Camouflage Tactics
15. Infantry Combat in Forests
16. German Forest Reconnaissance Operations
17. German Panzer Reconnaissance in Broken Terrain
18. Tank Attack in the Forest
19. Company G Recaptures Hill 726, 10/1941
20. Initiation into Forest Fighting (July 1941)
21. SS Battle in the Uschomir Forest
22. Belgian Troops Fighting in Soviet Forests
23. Walloons Killing Reds in Bloody Gorge
24. Anti-Partisan Operation Lepel-Borisov
25. Strong Points in Woods and Swamps
26. Forest Bushwhacking
27. Defensive Positions Near Forest Edge
28. German Defense of a Forest Strong Point
29. Forest Infiltration Tactics
30. Soviet Attack through a Forest

31. Combat Tricks in Forest
32. Forest Anti-Partisan Warfare
33. The Forest Camp
34. Attack on a Partisan Forest Headquarters
35. The Last German Offensive Operation in Northern Finland
36. German Retrograde Movement through the Taiga
37. Battle Reconnaissance by Infiltration
38. German Combat in Soviet Woodlands
39. German Defensive Tactics in Wooded and Marshy Country
40. Polish Tank Ambush in the Woods

Bibliography