

Korean War Combat: 1950-51

Korean War: Infantry Operations and Weapons

Copyright © 2009, Breaker McCoy, Editor

This book is copyright protected and may not be reproduced in part or whole, or sold, without the express written consent from the author of this book. All Rights Reserved.

www.quikmaneuvers.com

Table of Contents: 22 Chapters, Appendix

Editor's Introduction

Who is SLA Marshal (SLAM)?

SLA Marshal's Commentary

ORO Commentary

Introduction: Some Principles Emerge

Background of the Study

Chapters

1. Infantry Fire
2. When Weapons Fail
3. When Communications Fail
4. Combat Strain
5. Exhaustible Infantry and Inexhaustible Stores
6. The Rifle Company
7. The M1 Rifle
8. The Carbine
9. The Browning Automatic Rifle
10. Machine Guns
11. Artillery and Recoilless Weapons
12. Rocket Launchers
13. Mortars
14. Hand Grenades
15. The Bayonet
16. Pistols and Antiaircraft Guns
17. Public and Headquarters Must Be Informed
18. The November Battle
19. Noise: Signal and Weapon
20. Communications with Allies
21. Combat Information for Infantrymen
22. What SLAM Left Out

Appendix 1: Response to SLAM's Recommendations

Bibliography