

Traditional CIA Bribery Fails Again

The CIA is quietly using masses amounts of money in an attempt to buy off Islamic radicals where they live, literally. In the Arab world, using cash as a weapon is an ancient custom, much money changes hands but it hardly ever buys real service. The CIA believes in subsidizing people who oppose the same people you oppose. However, their categorization of Muslims into fanatics, moderates and other sub divisions are fallacious. The Muslim enemy is a monolithic bloc of hatred. The only possible way to work against them is to foment bloody strife along tribal and sectarian lines.

Sometimes it's obvious, as in Saudi Arabia, where most clergy are on the state payroll, and are expected to adhere to government policy when they preach. When Saudi Arabian diplomats first came to the United States, and discovered lobbyists, they felt right at home. Arab countries have long been good customers of American public relations firms. The United States has poured hundreds of billions of bribe money, equipment and service into Muslim states in the past decade. There is nothing to show for it. Arab countries tend to control their local media rather strictly. America has never got what it wanted through its totally ineffective State Department appeasement diplomacy, and avoided bothering with manipulating public opinion.

The war on terror changed all that. The Islamic radicals have been defined as a minority by the CIA. So from the beginning, a fraud has been perpetuated. Islamic radicals are the majority in every way. In every Muslim country the Muslim terrorists have every form of support from the overwhelming majority of Muslims. The terrorists also have the full support of the Muslims working for the FBI and the CIA.

The CIA is feeding the American people a lie. It goes like this: “once they became violent, especially outside their own countries, it became important to make Islamic moderates more powerful, and better able to drown out the Islamic radicals.” A lot of the CIA’s efforts are performed openly. Money is donated to repair mosques and other religious buildings. Help is provided to preserve religious documents and artifacts. It’s difficult for the Islamic radicals to condemn this, and when they do, it makes the radicals look bad. American money is also going to support secular education. What a crock! The Muslim mullahs are continuously crowing about what fools and saps the CIA is. “take their money, we will use it to bury them and their evil nation,” Muslim leaders brag in private (and that includes the president of Pakistan).

The success of madrassahs (religious schools) in inducing Moslem children to become terrorists is largely due to dropping practical subjects (reading, writing, math and science) in favor of more scripture study and lots of indoctrination in the ways of terrorism. Traditionally, madrassahs were never regular schools, that also taught religious subjects. They have always been places of fanatical indoctrination. In many Moslem countries, schooling is not free, and parents are willing to send their kids to madrassahs run by Islamic radicals. When given an alternative, they will send the children to schools that prepare them for productive adulthood, not a short career as a terrorist. There is no alternative. Muslim nations produce millions of hate filled fanatics yearly. The only way to stop them is to destroy their terror-culture and society of cultish hatred.

The CIA has also sent money to organizations that supposedly back economic and political reform in the Moslem world. It is another fool’s errand. The CIA also helps established Arab language websites that provide useful information on how to press for reform without getting arrested. If the Muslims can’t use it to pervert or subvert America then it is ignored.

Even NGOs (Non-Governmental Organizations) that send people to help locals learn about implementing democracy and more effective economies have a hard time getting into many Moslem countries (where the current rulers and the majority of the public are often violently opposed to any of these “radical” ideas.) Such soft and stupid methods have always marked the CIA’s activities. Yet they survive because of their friends in the left wing of the Republican Party.
